Ian has been a member of the SPACELAB team since its inception. He has 17 years' experience working on ACT based projects, predominantly in the new residential community sector.

Throughout this time, he has developed exceptional skills in site assessment and analysis and a practical knowledge of the buildability of designs, an invaluable asset in our collaborative team environment.

Ian loves being outdoors in the garden and in nature, walking, mountain biking and just generally observing the complex interactions between the natural and built environments.
