Kim provides invaluable support as Studio Manager at SPACELAB, taking care of all day-to-day operations so the team can do what they do best – Design and Plan!

Kim plays a key role in keeping operations running smoothly, putting systems in place, and increasing efficiencies across all areas at SPACELAB. Kim is often the first point of contact and is responsible for coordinating and assisting the team as well as providing excellent customer service and building client relationships.

Kim started her professional career in the hospitality industry over twenty-five years ago. It is in this industry where Kim learnt and fine-tuned her management skills across several sectors successfully managing businesses for both herself and others. No matter the size or style of event or project, Kim consistently delivered on the client's brief whilst keeping in mind the capabilities of the business and team to provide the best event/project outcomes and the highest level of customer satisfaction.

Kim is a passionate professional who is approachable and has a great eye for detail. She does not fold under pressure and when faced with a problem, Kim enjoys the challenge to find a solution.

When not at work, Kim currently spends most of her weekends renovating an old farm cottage located just outside of Canberra. Kim enjoys the rural lifestyle with her family and is looking forward to the day in the not-too-distant when the landscaping on the block is done so she can get some chickens, maybe a donkey or two and, start up her beekeeping hobby.
