

WOLLONDILLY RIVER WALK

GOULBURN, NSW

- Active Travel
- Wayfinding
- Public Space Activation
- Community Engagement
- Concept Masterplan

SPACELAB was engaged by the Goulburn Mulwaree Council to provide conceptual design for a series of spaces along an existing pedestrian network adjacent to the Wollondilly River in Goulburn.

Community consultation was undertaken with the Goulburn Mulwaree Council, community groups and stakeholders as part of the project to gather ideas of what they wanted to see incorporated into the trail. From these sessions, SPACELAB developed a conceptual masterplan and a series of precedents.

The project involved creating 'nodes' of activity along the trail, providing various levels of activity for different age groups. The nodes were placed at intervals along the trails to provide consistent points of interest and create a journey for the user. Each node was multi-functional, featuring landscaped areas, furniture, nature play, gym equipment and public art.

A wayfinding/interpretative signage strategy was proposed to be distributed throughout the trail to orientate pedestrians and cyclists to a variety of areas and connections to and from the trail.

"Spacelab thoughtfully interpreted input from the community and skilfully brought the vision to life in the masterplan." Louise Wakefield – Director of Growth Strategy and Culture, Goulburn Mulwaree Council
