Kate joined SPACELAB in 2021 and has a passion for urban development and its basis in planning law.

Whilst Kate completed her studies at Western Sydney University, she worked with local government councils experiencing high levels of development and infrastructure projects. This interface provided Kate with a solid foundation of understanding of NSW planning policies and procedures.

Moving to Canberra and working at SPACELAB has allowed Kate to expand her planning knowledge and application across ACT planning rules and legislation.

Kate now assists clients to navigate NSW & ACT planning legislation and to prepare for lodgment of development applications across NSW and within the ACT.

Kate is an integral member of the SPACELAB team and works closely with her co-workers conducting yield studies and contributing to strategic and statutory planning assessments within a wide project portfolio.
