Ian has been a member of the SPACELAB team since its inception. He has 17 years' experience working on ACT based projects, predominantly in the new residential community sector. Ian has been involved the development of countless ACT suburbs over the years from conception through to design, construction, then handover

Throughout this time, Ian has developed exceptional skills in site assessment and analysis and a practical knowledge of the buildability of designs. He is an invaluable asset in our collaborative team environment.

Ian is experienced in development and documentation of subdivision road and block orientations and detailed design of the associated landscape works. He has a special interest and skill playground design and believes a good playground is central to the formation of a vibrant and supportive new community.

Ian loves being outdoors in the garden and in nature, walking, mountain biking and just generally observing the complex interactions between the natural and built environments.
